The Money Blows.

On the twentieth of this month the rate-payers are being asked to endorse three money by-laws; one to build a church, a war loan, and the Royal Alexandra Hospital, the sum of $1,000,000; one to appropriate $60,000 for graveling streets; and the other to spend $21,000 in laying pavement. All three should carry. The need of the hospital accommodation is sufficiently shown when it is stated that sick children now have to sleep in the basement. The cost of the gravel and the paving was shown during the long wet spring in a way that makes argument superfluous.

The Sure Road to Peace.

The Rotarians are holding their eighteenth annual world convention in Belgium, with eight thousand delegates in attendance. It is something unique, and altogether hopeful, that a non-religious organization can upon its principles bring together men who should attain the dimensions of the international character, and the permanence of Rotary. Hopeful because if that rule were lived up to by everybody crime would vanish out of this world and war would be a thing of the past. The law and government and Governments and the League of Nations there doesn't seem to be much prospect that that millennium will be ushered in by any other means.

Canadian Club.

Canadian clubs increased during the last year from 58 to 104. The clubs in Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg now have each a membership of almost, or more than, 2,000. The active clubs 65 have reported an increase of 100 per cent. This summer the Canadian Club is "coming back" and coming strong. The movement is one that deserves encouragement, and should spread. There is room in every Canadian centre for a club, and the Canadian Club this summer should be a particularly good time to promote organization where one has not yet been founded, and to build up membership where they are already in existence.

Busting the Foreign Governments.

Bishop White, the Canadian head of the Anglican mission in Honan, China, has examined the documents seized at Peking when the Soviet soldiers were raiding by Chang Tso Lin's troops, and says these men have committed Chinese factions to kill and plunder foreigners, in hope that the foreign powers would be provoked to retaliatory measures, and would thus provide a basis for the Chinese to dominate the national capital. Chinese were trying to crush the influence of national sentiment and dominate China to their own ends. There is nothing surprising in this, save that the propagandists should have left such documents by their own admission in existence. The plan failed, however, because the powers took precautions to protect their nationals in China, and second because they refrained from anything that could represent the aggression against China or any of its friends. That is to say, to convert the Chinese people that the Western revolutionaries, not the foreign governments, are the parties who are intermeddling in their affairs.

The "Mystery" Plane.

Residents of Gulf Lake report an unidentified airplane hovering over that vicinity a few days ago. Reports of "mystery" planes are becoming fairly frequent in these days, and forsooth the time when the private airmen will be quite common, and the aerial acrobatics and goings may excite little more attention than the appearance of an automobile used to arouse a couple of decades ago. A time, too, when the smuggler, the boot-legger, and the gambler, who were the identification of a plane will be a matter of concern to the police. Because of the speed of the airplane, the distance it can travel and the fact that it neither follows a trail nor leaves one behind it, the process of identifying a plane after it has left will have to be subjected to a strict regulation of the operation of a ship. The "mystery" plane is a passing phenomenon. In a few years the owner of a plane will have to secure a license to operate it, take out a clearance papers before it starts a flight, and give assurances as to the character of his cargo and his destination.

The Out-of-Town Patients.

Out-of-town patients at the Royal Alexandra Hospital last year more than paid their way, the revenue showing a surplus on that branch of the "business". It is not the case, therefore, that sick children have to be accommodated in the hospital, and that the sides may be treated gratis or at less than cost. The service given to patients from other points is on a better than self-sustaining basis. It may be true that patients were refused admission to the hospital for treatment could be made on the upper floors of the Royal Alexandra. But to refuse hospital treatment to anyone who needs it is not in accord with human sentiment, and to refuse such treatment to a patient who needs it is not in accord with the cost of providing it would be a questionable policy; and it may be assumed that people do not come in from distant points at great expense to themselves unless their ailments are really serious enough to require hospital accommodation. Unless these sufferers are to be treated gratis, the cost of their care in the Royal Alexandra, their admission is not the factor which makes it necessary to provide other quarters for the children.

At the Start

EDGAR A. GUEST

Here is the road and here's the start of danger. He is not too quick to let the word of strangers. Far lies the goal; through scenes of fit and beauty. Let neither one withhold you from your duty. But let it never drain your strength nor treasure.

Play when you may and take your need of pleasure.

Passions you have, but rule them in this fashion: Make what is best for you, your strongest passion.

If you'll the will to reach that distant station.

Then you can turn your back on all temptation.

Smooth terraces shall say your passions rule and restrain these pleadings: turn them all behind you.

Here is the road; the distance none can measure. Soon you shall see 'is' strung with wrecks of pleasure.

Rev. Thomas Mitchell
To Preach on Sunday

Rev. Thomas H. Mitchell, M.A., B.D., will preach at both services on Sunday. In the morning there will be “Transfiguration on the Mount,” and in the evening the “Safeguard of the Church.”

In the morning E. M. Gunn, author of “Samson and Delilah,” will render a number of his well-known musical numbers. The American and British churches, reveals a very strained condition between them.

A manifesto has been signed by 1000 clergymen of the various protestant churches against the “political alliance” of the Roman Catholic Church.

They also state that the recent policy and methods of the papal government are in direct contrast to the best interests of the church.

It is recalled that the council was organized about three years ago as an executive committee to nationalize the church in China. The church has since arisen as a whole yielded to the movement, and some consider the event as the “beginning of the Christian gathering ever held in a more important place.”

The manifesto is signed by Dr. David U. Reid, general secretary of the Canadian Council of Churches.

He was a D.D. from Knox College.

He is a member of the church.

REQUIRE BEST

There is something about the Canadian buying public, according to the local Chandler Motor Sales, local Chandler representatives, that sets them apart from other drivers. Across the Atlantic, people like to buy the best, and particularly in Edmonton, where ever anything better comes along, is almost better—it is given a hearty welcome.

Alex. W. Taylor, western representative for the Canadian John Deere, has been riding in state these few days demonstrating the new Sport Sedan. The appearance of these two snappy models is the result of a great deal of work by the manufacturers who park their cars innsurably, using up space that suits the pocketbook of the automobile, but for their careers.

These conditions are pointed out to officials of the Canadian Automobile Association, who are joining forces in an appeal to car owners to "get together for at least a partial solution of the problem confronting motorists."

Motorists are almost as desirable as courtesy in driving, it is averred. "Parking at an angle of 45 or 60 degrees is a simple driving technique that will enable any driver can put a car into such a position that it will not obstruct another's passage." A single angle parking represents a considerable saving in space, and is a partial solution of the general problem for drivers of small cars. Some actions are given in line. Sure efforts are nullified, however, if individual drivers do not leave a few inches of space between their cars and the cars of others, and if motorists without number, taking the same amount of space and even more, between cars.

"It may be that the parking problem will be solved by the co-operation of all concerned, but this should be hastened by the drivers, during their share toward remedying the situation, by giving up as much reducing space as much as possible," says the Alberta Motor Association's appeal in conclusion.

BEARS FORCE PRICES DOWN

W

WENNSING, June 11.—Weakness of the Chicago market, but the bears was the main factor in the price decline, and the market closed lower than it opened today. The early strength quickly gave way to a bear movement, impelling the market to a new low. A flood of selling orders followed, and the market was then shaggy at the finish with quotations 25 to 35 cents lower.

Very little new business was worked, and the grain market will brighten and prices trended downward again, as the market is still bearish. Barley broke about 1 cent.
